

CJP add Lucobit EBA to their growing portfolio

South Wales based Technical Distributor, CJP Sales Ltd is once again in the news, announcing the launch of their latest product Lucofin EBA. The distribution agency was agreed in K2011 between German producer Lucobit AG and CJP to cover the UK market.

Lucobit EBA, Lucofin is an exceptionally versatile product used to enhance the impact and flexural properties of polymers in many applications such as Film, Foam, co extrusion, Compounding and injection moulding. (See article page 6)

CJP have sustained year on year growth with the addition of Key Polymers such as Dyna-Purge and being the distributor for Doeflex PVC Compounds for over 20 years. CJP have developed strong lasting relationships with our suppliers, which is vital when providing a service to customers. Technical Director Richard Benyon explains the Company's successes is very simple "we value our customers above all else and offer them the products they want and more importantly the technical support they need.

In order to support the continued successes of Dyna-Purge and the introduction of Lucobit along with the growth in the PVC and engineering polymers, CJP have taken on another Technical Sales Representative. We have trained technical staff at the end of the phone and are always happy to assist any company with any requirements.
